

Course Catalog - Spring 2007

Anthropology

157 The Archaeology of Illinois credit: 3 hours.

Traces the prehistory of Illinois from the first entry of people into the region more than 113,000 years ago until the 17th century and the beginning of historical records; examines subsequent cultural changes up to the 19th century and statehood from an archaeological and ethnohistorical perspective.

This course satisfies the General Education Criteria for a Hist&Philosoph Perspect course.